About the American Viola Project

The ISU Viola Studio would like to thank the American Viola Society and David Bynog for publishing and making these scores freely available to violists around the world. David Bynog is a current board member of the American Viola Society, past editor of the Journal of the American Viola Society, and recipient of the AVS Founders Awards for Performance, Scholarship, Composition, Instrument Building, Philanthropy, or Service to the AVS. He is the assistant head of acquisitions at Rice University's Fondren Library and was recognized with the Shapiro Library Staff Innovation Award in 2010. He has written numerous articles for a variety of music and library publications. His primary research focuses on the viola in England and America during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. David holds degrees in viola performance from Louisiana State University, where he studied with Jerzy Kosmala, and from Rice University, where he studied with Csaba Erdélyi and Roberto Díaz.
