This semester, Chamber Singers are celebrating the centennials of the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. These small Eastern European nations share a rich culture of choral music and a powerful history of nonviolent struggle for freedom that will be shared during tonight's concert. If you are interested in exploring this topic further, we recommend the 2006 documentary "The Singing Revolution" by James Tusty, which gives wonderful insight into Estonia's experiences, and the 2013 book The Power of Song: Nonviolent National Culture in the Baltic Singing Revolution by Guntis Šmidchens, which details the ways that the use of song in the Baltic states provides the world with a successful example of nonviolent political action. Thank you for spending your evening with us!
